West Views Sincere Red Talk Efforts

GENEVA (AP) — Western officials said today they believed the Soviet Union may soon give up its stonewall tactics and get down to real negotiations at the 10-nation disarmament conference. By the end of its second week, the conference has produced little more than preliminary skirmishing. But the Western delegates are encouraged by the relaxed atmosphere. There was a general feeling that the Soviets may adopt a more elastic approach, particularly as the East-West summit meeting now only seven weeks away, comes closer.

Nikita Gets Cool Reception In Bordeaux

Route from Airport Lined Only by Police, Military Guards

BORDEAUX, France (AP) — This city of more than a quarter of a million population today gave visiting Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a chilly, reserved welcome.

On his arrival at Bordeaux Airport a handful of spectators watched in silence as he climbed out of his Caravelle jet on the first leg of a six-day tour of provincial France.

There was no applause, no cheers and no band.

Police and the military were present by the score but they had little to do.

Only four Soviet flags fluttered at the airport. On the 10-mile drive into town the only people on hand were police and military guards posted to control a crowd which never showed up.

Nails that, police said, were strewn on the route to the airport to keep organized Communist groups from being present at the arrival were needless. No such convoys showed up and the only people who suffered were busy truck drivers and others driving on routine business.

In town a crowd police estimated.

J. A. Probert Succumbs to Long Illness

James A. Probert, 85, of 418 E. 7th St., died of a cerebral hemorrhage at 7:15 a. m. today in Salem City Hospital, where he had been a medical patient for eight months.

Born in Salem Nov. 9, 1874, he was a son of Reuben and Sophia Large Probert.

For many years he clerked in the Golden Eagle and Blooming clothing stores.

He was a member of the First Christian Church, which he served in various official capacities, and he was a member of the Salem City Hospital board, which he had served as secretary for a number of years. A member of the Independent Order of ODD Fellows for 49 years, he was active in the Amity Lodge, Good Will Encampment.

Meaningless Provisions

The Soviet plan, first outlined by Premier Nikita Khrushchev last year, calls for general and complete disarmament within four years, under control provisions described by Western delegates as so vague they are meaningless.

Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin has refused to be drawn out on how the controls would operate. There can be no discussion of controls until the conference has agreed on what should be controlled, he said Friday.

The Western delegations are unwilling to agree to specific disarmament measures without knowing how these would be verified. Going ahead they fear would expose them to public opinion pressure to carry out arms cuts that the Soviet bloc may subsequently refuse to put under adequate inspection.

U.S. Ambassador Frederick M. Eaton sprang a surprise by testing Zorin's reaction to a specific disarmament proposal.

Suppose, said Eaton, we agree to cut the level of American and Soviet armed forces to 2,100,000 men each, how would such a cut be verified? How many inspectors would be required, how would they operate and what would be done with the surplus arms?

American officials said Zorin's refusal to be drawn into the discussion appeared mainly a device to leave him room for maneuvering when the conference resumes Monday.

Zorin insisted the Soviet Union will not discuss controls without disarmament.

East German Reds Halt U.S. Train

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet forces in East Germany blocked an American Army train early today because of a drawing—the Russians called it a swastika—in the dust on one of the cars, U. S. authorities reported. The train was headed across East Germany for West Berlin.

According to a U. S. spokesman, the Soviets alleged that a swastika had been drawn on one of the cars. The Americans saw no swastika, they said, until the train had been in Soviet custody for nearly three hours.

The train was sent back to Helmstedt, in West Germany, from the Soviet check point at Marienborn.

A later train was passed through by the Soviet officials without incident. It arrived in West Berlin about an hour late.

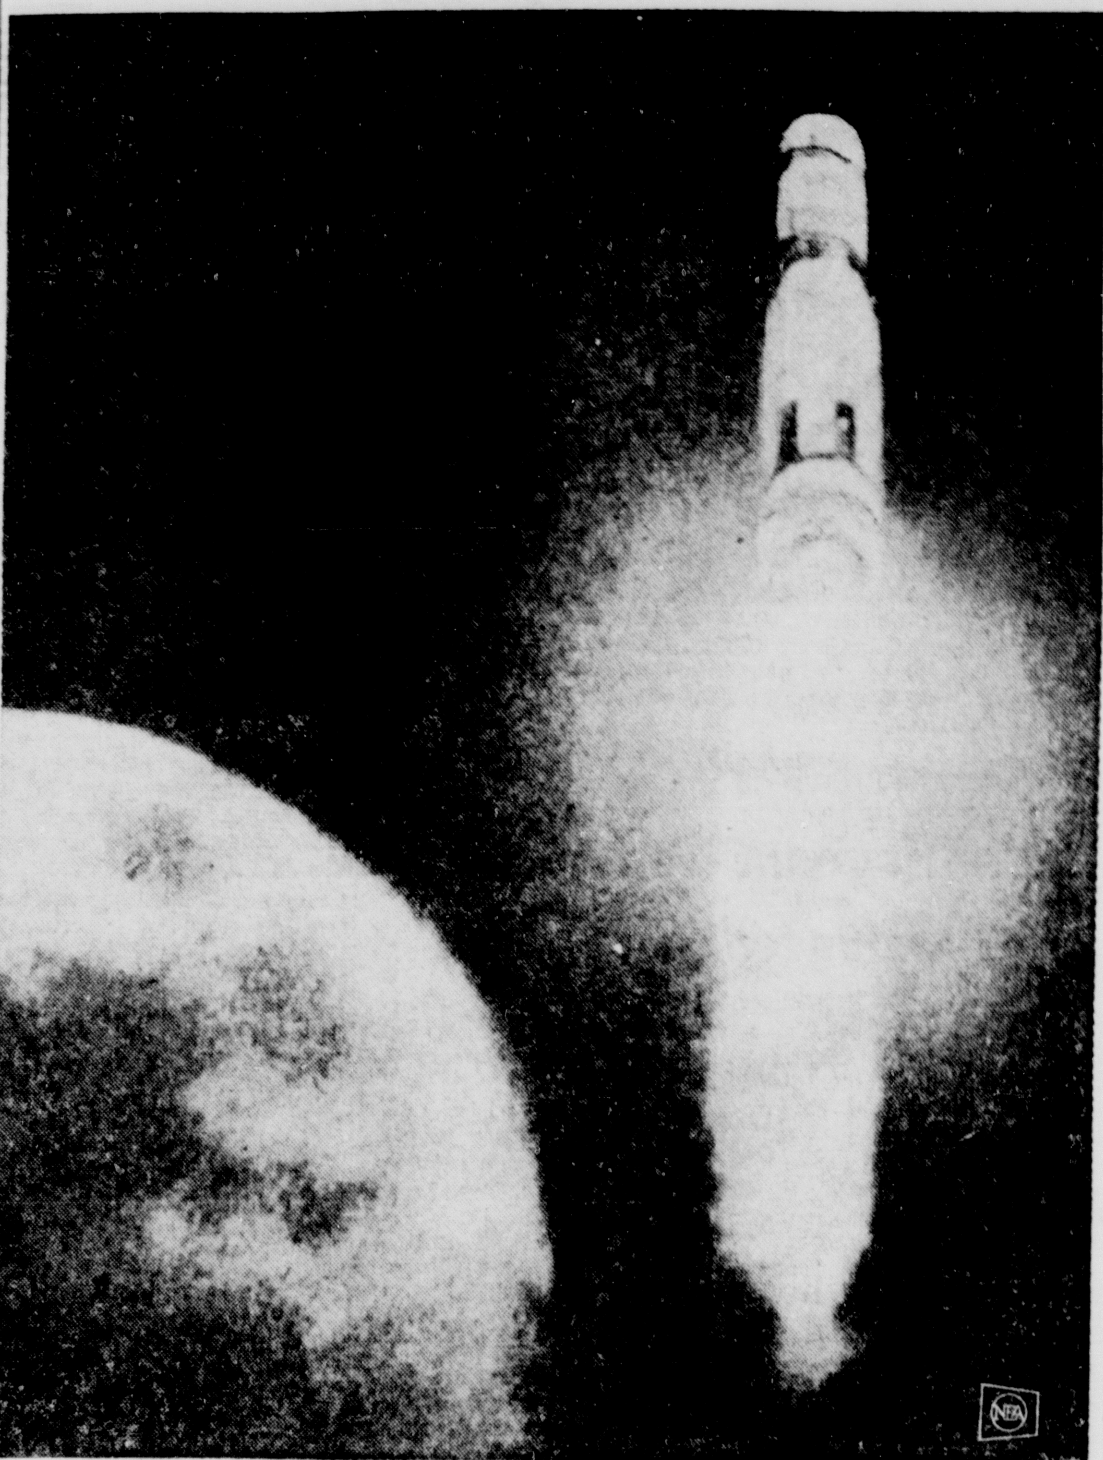

An informed source in Frankfurt said that "maybe kids" were drawing the swastikas.

The train was one which U.S. Army sends daily from Bremerhaven, on the North Sea. It had just entered the 110-mile stretch of Communist territory that separates West Germany from West Berlin.

According to the U. S. version of the story, as told by a spokesman in West Berlin, the dust on one refrigerator car had markings on it. They looked to the Americans like a child's funny-face drawing—a square head with a long nose. Soviet troops said it was a swastika and shoved the train on a siding, under Soviet guard.

Youth Admits Throwing Bomb

Shoots Two Rushing Out of Synagogue

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP)—A fire bomb was thrown at a synagogue Friday night and two members of the congregation were shot when they rushed outside to investigate.

In the predawn hours today police routed a 16-year-old boy out of a downtown hotel room. They said he admitted throwing the bomb and firing the shots.

Circuit Solicitor Charles Wright identified the boy as Jerry Earl Hunt who was held on charges of assault with intent to murder.

He said Hunt told him he had planned the assault on the synagogue for two weeks because of a grudge against two Jewish boys.

Wright said Hunt told officers he was alone but police said they considered the case still open with the possibility more were involved.

Earlier this week Hunt told high school friends of his plot, Wright said, but nobody took him seriously.

Police said Hunt's grudge with the Jewish boys grew out of a chess game.

Another youth was picked up earlier, questioned and released. A car containing a .22 caliber rifle was found abandoned near

Three Children Die In Fire Near Warren

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Three small children perished in a fire that swept a two-story frame home at Mesopotamia early today. Four other persons were burned.

Fire officials said the blaze apparently started from an overheated stove.

Dead are three children of Mrs. and Mrs. George Hammons: David, 4, Mary, 2½, and Cathy, 1½.

Hammons, 26, and his wife, Ellen, 22, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital here, along with their 7-month-old daughter, Sally Jo. All three were listed in fair condition. Hammons' brother, Bert, 19, who lived at the home, was in serious condition with burns over his body.

Firemen from six nearby north-west Trumbull County communities helped fight the blaze.

S. African Government Bows on Passes Issue

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's white police announced today they are no longer going to arrest Negroes for not carrying their passbooks.

This official announcement from Pretoria police headquarters amounted to a major retreat by the Nationalist government in its fight against the anti-pass campaign waged this week by the Pan-Africanist party.

The campaign led to bloody riots Monday and Tuesday and subsequent crippling strikes by Negroes.

The spreading Negro work stoppage in the Cape Peninsula area, where thousands of Africans have left their jobs, was the focal point of South Africa's race troubles this tense weekend.

Attention was also fixed on the town of Meyerton about 10 miles from Monday's riot area of Vereeniging and Sharpsville.

Police reinforcements have been moved into the tense Cape Peninsula from as far away as the northern province. Police patrolling the Negro settlements of Langa and Nyanga around Cape Town said they are encountering roadblocks erected by Negroes.

White police arrested three Negroes in Langa settlements Friday night charging them with incitement. At Nyanga several Negro police constables asked protection for their families after they reported threats their homes would be burned. Armored cars are stationed in force at the strategic Cape police station.

Saturday morning deliveries of milk, bread and newspapers were disrupted in Cape Peninsula because Negroes continued their work strike.

While trade and transport problems are being solved, the

President Ready To O.K. Ban on Small A-Tests

Robert Heddleston, Druggist, Dies

Robert H. Heddleston of 900 Highland Ave., president of the Heddleston Drug store and a member of the Salem Board of Education, died Friday at 7:45 p. m. in Salem City Hospital as the result of a heart ailment. He was 52.

Although he had been ill at home for the past several weeks, he did not enter the hospital until late Wednesday.

Mr. Heddleston, who was serving his second term on the school board, also was a member of the school athletic board. He had been actively interested in Salem Senior High School sports for many years.

Born in East Liverpool April 29, 1908, he was the son of the late Edgar and Etta Harmon Heddleston.

He was a graduate of East Liverpool High School and had attended the University of Pittsburgh and the University of West Virginia. He served in the army four years during World War II.

He was a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Perry Lodge of Masons, the Kiwanis Club and the UCT. He had been active in civic affairs and at one time served as chairman of the Red Cross drive.

Surviving are his wife, the former Bertha E. Ryser, whom he married April 4, 1939; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Daily of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Vera Klose and

Robert H. Heddleston

Mrs. Dorothy Damon of Geneva, O.; one brother, Donald H. Heddleston of Buena Park, Calif., one niece and several nephews.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Stark Memorial, in charge of the Rev. Richard Fieseman, pastor of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church, and the Rev. John Bauman, pastor emeritus. Burial will be in Hope Cemetery. Friends may call Sunday afternoon and evening at the funeral home.

County Contest To Be April 25

Salem Spelling Bee Is Set For April 7

The city-wide spelling bee for Salem public schools will be held Thursday afternoon, April 7, at the Junior High School auditorium, according to arrangements completed at a meeting of school principals this week.

It will mark the first time that sixth graders will compete with seventh and eighth graders for a chance to continue into the county bee and then, possibly, to the finals at Canton. The winner at Canton advances to the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C., June 6-10.

Meanwhile, arrangements are going on throughout the Columbiana County for bees leading up to the county spell-down. A few schools already have chosen their top spellers for the county event.

County to Reduce Aid to Dependent Children April 1

Effective April 1, some 165 families receiving monthly grants on the aid to Dependent Children program from the Columbiana County Welfare Department will receive a lesser amount, according to Robert Bycroft, county welfare director.

Payments will be based on 80 per cent of requirement instead of 85 as has been in effect since Jan. 1.

The Columbiana County Department of Welfare has been notified by the State Welfare Department of this reduction. Although the state has increased its contribution to this program, they now find that adjustment must be made downward to 80 per cent.

The Aid to Dependent Children program is one designed to hold families together, that is the mother and her children, after the death, desertion or incapacitation of the father, Bycroft explained.

In Columbiana County this program includes 161 caretakers and 467 children. All recipients were notified March 1 of the change. They will now be officially notified of the exact amount of reduction because all work has now been completed for the April 1 payroll.

There is no change at this time in any other of the programs serviced by the Columbiana County welfare department, Bycroft said.

Ike to Submit To Avoid U.S., Britain Rift

Macmillan Flying To Washington Today for Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to avoid a U.S.-British split, President Eisenhower is reported ready to agree with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on a short-term ban against small underground nuclear weapons test as part of a package deal with the Soviet Union.

Macmillan is flying to Washington from London today for talks with the President at Camp David, Md., beginning Monday. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will meet the Prime Minister on his arrival at Andrews Air Force Base tonight.

Macmillan is expected to urge conditional acceptance of a Soviet proposition for a nuclear test control treaty plus an indefinite moratorium on small underground test explosions of nuclear weapons, which would not be covered in the treaty.

Since the Soviet proposition was made a week ago, there has been strong opposition within the administration — from the Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission — against accepting the moratorium along with the treaty.

Macmillan, on the other hand, has been under pressure to agree to the moratorium if that is essential to bring a halt to all other testing.

Says Agreement Reached
Herter told a news conference Friday that within the U.S. government agreement has been reached on a position which will be presented to Macmillan.

"Clearly, if we are going to discuss it with Mr. Macmillan," he said, "we are not going to announce it until after we have discussed with him his position, to see to what extent our two positions are reconciled."

Herter did, however, indicate that the United States has in mind some counterproposal to the Soviet Union in three-power negotiations under way at Geneva. He declined to say that the Soviet proposition is fully acceptable or completely unacceptable, then added: "I think you can gather from what I have said that there are parts of it that would not be acceptable."

One of these unacceptable features, Herter made clear, is the Soviet call for a moratorium on small weapons tests which would last indefinitely, beginning with a four- or five-year duration that would be extended upon expiration.

Other authorities reported privately that the new U.S. position includes these conditions:

1. The United States would prefer a moratorium of one year but if necessary might agree to two years. Macmillan has been described as favoring two years.

2. During the moratorium of one or two years, the Soviet Union would have to join with the United States and Britain in intensive scientific research on development of a detection system which would be effective in discovering any cheating against the ban on small weapons explosions. It was the lack of an effective detection system which caused Eisenhower to

Lenten Meditation

president, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

One of the most remarkable women in the Middle East is Bertha Spafford Vestor, who has lived for 78 years in the ancient city of Jerusalem. There she presides with queenly grace over the American Colony, besides administering a great hospital and a clinic for nonrefugees which in 1959 served 22,500 patients.

Her father, Horatio G. Spafford, was a successful lawyer in Chicago toward the end of the last century, where he owned considerable property.

Then came the disastrous Chicago fire. Having lost practically all his possessions, and with his wife at the point of a nervous breakdown, he suggested that they go to England for a few weeks to recuperate.

But just as they were about to leave he found it imperative to remain in Chicago for a few more days to attend to some business. He told his wife to take their four little girls and go on the boat as planned, leaving him to join her in London a week later.

On the way across the Atlantic, however, the ship ran into a sailing vessel in a dense fog. There were but 22 survivors.

AMONG THE LATTER was Mrs. Spafford, who found herself coming up out of the water on a piece of wreckage which enabled her to survive until she was picked up by a lifeboat. The four little girls, however, were drowned.

It was when Mr. Spafford received the news of the death of all his four daughters that in his anguish he sat down and wrote the beautiful hymn:

"When peace, like a river, attendeth my way,

When sorrows like sea-billows roll;

Whatever my lot, Thou has taught me to say,

"It is well, it is well with my soul."

Subsequently there were three other children born to Mr. and Mrs. Spafford, one a boy who died of scarlet fever. It was then that Mr. Spafford decided to take the two little girls—one of them the present Mrs. Vestor—and his wife to take up residence in Jerusalem.

Asked for a reason he replied, "It was there that my Saviour lived and suffered and conquered. I have lived, and I have suffered. Now I want to learn the secret of how to conquer."

How well he succeeded is revealed in the years that followed. Their home within a corner of the city wall was so poor that most of the time the children had to go without shoes.

But so completely did they devote themselves to their fellow men that today we have in Jerusalem, the beautiful hotel and guest house of the American Colony, the Red Cross, and the hospital and clinic mentioned above.

Now 81 years of age, the mother of six children of her own, Mrs. Vestor is one of the most radiant, sparkling Christian women one could find anywhere in the world.

Recently she was invited all the way from Jerusalem to Hollywood to participate in a "This Is Your Life" program featuring Lowell Thomas, whom she introduced to the famous Lawrence of Arabia.

TO LIVE—TO SUFFER—TO CONQUER! This was indeed the secret of Jesus, and of those who followed him. The Apostle Paul said, "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." (Philippians 1:21.)

As for suffering, Paul said further, "I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us."

If so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together." (Romans 8:18, 17.)

And conquest? Another New

Rev. Dean Rohrer

Columbiana Church Calls Rev. Rohrer

The newly-named pastor of the Columbiana Zion Hill Church of the Brethren the Rev. Dean Rohrer, expects to move to Columbiana by next fall.

The Rev. Rohrer for the last eight years has been serving the Shepherd Church of the Brethren in Mount Pleasant, Mich., and announced last week that he would accept the unanimous call from the Columbiana congregation.

He will fill a post here which will have been vacant for more than a year by the time he arrives. The congregation in Columbiana is currently being served by the Rev. Arno Holderread of Columbiana. The most recent pastor was the Rev. J. Lloyd Nedrow, who resigned last year.

The Rev. Rohrer is married to the former Mary K. Diehl of Brookville, O. They have four children, Douglas, 9, Stephen, 7, Timothy, 5, and Philip, 2.

Prior to entering the ministry, the Rev. Rohrer served aboard merchant vessels bound for Greece and Poland for two years. He was graduated from Manchester College in North Manchester, Ind., in 1947, and served as a volunteer for two years at the Castaner, Puerto Rico, church mission. He is a 1952 graduate of the Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago.

Plight of China Christians Recalls Roman Persecutions

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

The dismal state of the tiny Christian community in Communist China has often been likened to the plight of the church during the persecutions of Roman Emperor Diocletian.

It's an apt comparison.

The sentencing of Roman Catholic Bishop James E. Walsh, accused of conspiring to overthrow the Communist regime, points up Christianity's desperate state. He's one of the last foreign missionaries left in China.

Catholic sources in the United States list three foreign missionaries in addition to Bishop Walsh as remaining on the Chinese mainland. Before the Red takeover, there were more than 5,000.

Two of the remaining missionaries are Koreans. They are identified only as Fathers Kim and Yen. They were last heard from more than a year ago. Apparently, they are in jail.

The other is a German priest, the Rev. Peter Hunsberg, who, says a Catholic spokesman, apparently has gone over to the Communists. At last reports, he was working as a German translator in Peiping.

Protestant missionaries have fared as poorly.

At the end of 1949, says the Missionary Research Library of the Union Theological Seminary, there were about 2,000 American Protestant missionary workers active in China. Today there are none.

Between 1948 and 1959, says a church spokesman, a total of 510 American Catholic missionaries were expelled, a number of them after periods in prison or under house arrest.

Even more trying for the Catholic church was the formation in 1954 of the Patriotic Assn. of Chinese Catholics, which amounts to a Catholic church independent of the Vatican.

A papal encyclical issued in 1958 describes it as aimed "at making Catholics embrace the tenets of atheistic materialism by which God himself is denied and principles of religion rejected."

The Communist church, regarded by the Vatican as schismatic, has consecrated more than 30 Chinese bishops whose orders are "valid but unlawful" in the Vatican's view.

This means they have a bishop's powers but are not allowed to use them.

The Catholic Church, however, maintains that most of the 3,300,000 Chinese Catholics counted in 1949 remain loyal to Rome.

Will Christianity ever return in strength to the Chinese mainland?

"Only when the Chinese Communists are overthrown," says the Rev. Francis De Masi, one of the Maryknoll missionaries now on Formosa.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Clear Conscience Brings Confidence

One winter evening I arrived home around eleven-thirty. My daughter greeted me with the information, "Mr. Thomas Brown phoned. He wants you to call him back. He says he has to see you tonight."

"It's late," I objected.

"I know," she admitted. "I told him that. But he still wants to see you."

"But he lives out of town," I told him that. "He's staying overnight at a hotel. Here's the number."

Mr. Brown and I had been personally acquainted for quite some time. He is number two man in the management of a very large business. I called him back and asked what the trouble was.

"I don't want to bother you, but I'd like to see you," he said. His voice was jittery.

"Get a cab, and come up here right away."

FIFTEEN MINUTES LATER he walked in. Though the night was bitter cold, he was wearing neither hat nor overcoat. His first words were, "I've had a couple of drinks, but don't be alarmed—I'm cold sober." And with a sign: "You don't find the answer to a problem in a drink, do you?"

Dropping into a chair he sat for a long moment in silence with his head in his hands. Then he told me what his trouble was. His most valuable assistant had submitted an expense account showing nearly a hundred dollars spent in taxi fares on a business trip in another city. Coincidentally, Mr. Brown had previously received a letter from a friend in that city, saying he had counted it a pleasure to drive Brown's assistant everywhere he wanted to go. Brown called his man in and asked how come.

THE MAN ADMITTED he had "knocked down," as the expression goes, on the taxi fares. And he didn't seem in the least ashamed of it. "Sure, I get paid a good salary," he said. "But I can use a little extra now and then. All the boys do it, Tom. I'm surprised you make such a fuss about it. You better take a good look around."

So Brown did take a good look around. And he found these practices rife in the organization. But that wasn't the worst of it.

"The worst is," Brown told me, "I am much inclined to let the whole thing ride. What can I do? Our president is a nervous man. Would he back me up if I made an issue of this? I don't know. I might antagonize half our personnel, maybe even lose us some good men. Besides, many of these fellows are my friends. If I try to crack down, I just don't know where I'll be."

He spent the next hour elaborating on the situation, from this angle and from that, only to come back again to the same point of tortured indecision. Finally I said to him, "Listen, a man of principle has to be tougher-skinned. You not only have an obligation to the company, but also to those men who report to you. You must be firm, for their good. So, set a good example. If you don't you are actually dishonest yourself."

AT MY SUGGESTION we prayed together about the problem. First we prayed, and very sincerely, for the assistant who had "knocked down" that money under taxi expense. Then for other men in the company who might be using the same shady philosophy to justify outright dishonesty. And we prayed for God's guidance. And for the advancement of His kingdom. At length Mr. Brown stood up, relaxed and calm now, saying, "I am going to stand on the side of honesty, no matter what."

And when he left he was, I felt, a very much healthier, happier man than when he had arrived. If I needed further proof of this, I got it when he phoned the next morning and said, "After I left your place, I went and had three hamburgers and two cups of coffee and then slept like a baby until eight o'clock."

He was right with himself again.

The Spell of a Story

Think back, grown-up! There haven't been many joys in life that compare to the thrill of being read to. Remember—we came to know most of those stories by heart—and we loved them more each time we heard them.

Robin Hood and Little John—King Arthur and Sir Launcelot—they became old friends. And the heroes of our Bible stories—David and Daniel and the Boy Jesus in the Temple—they lived before our eyes as though the centuries had melted away.

Those stories helped to mold our lives. They taught us courage and faith. We sought to be like the heroes we loved.

Today, grown-up, your child needs the right stories. Are you taking advantage of the Church's program of religious education for youth? Are you giving your youngster the best start in life by making yours a worshipping, a church-supporting home?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Ohio Liquor Enforcement

The bitter feud that has burst into the open between the Department of Liquor Control and the Board of Liquor Control in Columbus may be the greatest thing that has happened in years to illegal and fringe-of-the-law permit holders.

It may, on the other hand, turn out to be the greatest step in years toward good, solid liquor control in Ohio.

Which of those alternatives will prove to be the case depends upon the willingness and the ability of the officials involved to straighten out their thinking.

The members of each agency are trying to blame the other side for a level of liquor control that is far from ideal. They need to realize that there is room for improvement on both sides — and to remind themselves they are supposed to work hand-in-hand to protect the people's interest in the liquor business.

THE INTERESTED observer does not have to dig very deep into the records of the board's decisions to find evidence that it sometimes leans too far backward in its efforts to be just with permit holders cited to appear before it.

Just one example of the way the board has frustrated the public's interest was given by one of its own members, who said a backlog of 454 cases had been built up over a 20-year period because members could not agree among themselves on decisions.

By the same token, no one can honestly say the department's enforcement division is doing the job it should in ferreting out violators and garnering the evidence necessary to insure sufficient penalties to deter other violators.

Gov. DiSalle took cognizance of this when he ordered a sweeping revision of the enforcement organization along the lines of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Whether his specific plan will be the full answer remains to be seen, but it does indicate an effort to correct the problem.

IN DEFENSE of both the board and the department, it must be said that the squabble points up the role local enforcement agencies can and should play in helping the state — limited in money and authority — to do a better job.

For much too long, all of these agencies have been pulling in opposite directions and the public has been the loser.

The advantage of having the battle out in the open is that the public has the opportunity to see the liquor control picture in a clearer light. It expects the infighting to stop so the board and the department can get on with correcting their respective faults and working together for better enforcement.

If the fight accomplishes that, it could be the turning point toward sound liquor control. If it is allowed to rage on, the illegal element in the liquor industry can look forward to a field day.

Sen. Symington Makes His Move

The only one of the four Democrats running for the presidential nomination who has not made his move, now that Sen. Symington of Missouri has made his, is Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota made their moves early, with good effect. Sen. Kennedy, especially, has opened so much daylight between himself and his opponents that he is now acknowledged to be the pace-setter in this strange senatorial steeplechase.

Symington is the least known of the four. Only two things are known about him widely — that he is a Missouri Democrat of the Harry Truman school and has been a strong critic of national defense, on the grounds it is too cautious and too moderate.

This is a blurred image of a man seeking a presidential nomination, but Symington is a blurred political personality. He is a rags-to-riches businessman who married the daughter of James W. Wadsworth of New York, a widely known and deeply influential Republican political figure, who served in both houses of Congress.

Mr. Symington started as a steel molder and was president of Emerson Electric Co. at the height of his business career. He turned to government service at the outset of World War II and has been at it ever since. He has been in the Senate since 1953. He is the oldest of the four senators; he will be 59 next June 26.

The trouble he will have in establishing himself as a presidential candidate, as far as voters are concerned, will come from his split identity. He is a big businessman who went to Washington and is inviting a presidential nomination as a Harry Truman Democrat. It is an odd combination.

Nevertheless, if the Democratic convention deadlocked, it might be the exact combination to unlock the deadlock, which is the significance of the Symington candidacy. He would be a compromise choice.

Both the Principle and the Money

If the Air Force proclamation that hired help must be substituted for service personnel on kitchen police duty whenever the budget permits it is not original, it and the Department of the Army, which did the same thing quietly last December, are on the right track.

Would Be a Pleasure

Editorialists, as all newspaper readers know, write with the seasons. They welcome spring and feel sad about fall. They are tender about Christmas and stern about the Fourth of July and Thanksgiving.

When it snows, they advise people to clean their walks. When it's the swimming season, they drop a few wise words about water safety. They smack their lips over cherry pie in season, corn on the cob, pumpkin pie and maple syrup. These are standbys of the trade — the eternal virtues of editorializing.

Oh yes, grass fires. This is a perennial standby. Comes spring and there is a great hustle-bustle to neat the landscape. It's as though a thousand pyromaniacs had been turned loose at once. The fire departments are frantic. Winds whip little trash fires into holocausts that darken the sky. Dry grass and weeds burst into explosive combustion. Every year, the editorialists admonish the public to be careful about grass fires.

We can hardly wait. Here is one of those things dreams can be built on — a crackling grass fire, with a dozen frantic householders beating it with brooms and shovels and the fire truck screaming to the scene.

Wouldn't that be something to see and enjoy after so much snow?

Earliest Campaign Buttons

Trials of a Candidate

By RAYMOND MOLEY

I was told in one instance that the governor of New Hampshire had tried to get the vice president on the telephone and failed and was mad about it.

If the advice of the governor of New Hampshire, which was apparently what the governor was desirous of imparting to the vice president, was as bad as his judgment and discretion proved to be in the recent campaign up there, it is well that he failed to reach the vice president.

Last week, out here in California, another loud complaint emanated from Sacramento.

It seems that in the selection of a slate of prospective delegates to represent the State of California at the Republican convention in Chicago next July, there had been included only a few members of the Republican party in the state legislature.

The number included was regarded as altogether too small. So it was decided to send a committee of members to Washington to complain to the vice president in person.

The vice president being the accomplished diplomat that he is, the complaint will presumably be met with some sort of compromise which will end this particular incident. But it will not end the complaints about the "inaccessibility" of the vice president.

Such complaints are just as characteristic of a presidential candidacy as the crowds, the parades, and the billboards.

Durable Humans

By THOMAS R. HENRY

The human body has a marvelous capacity to withstand crashes.

It can, for example, tolerate forces that would completely demolish most airplanes — forces as much as 300 times the pull of gravity or equivalent to a weight of 25,000 pounds — without very serious injury.

This has just been reported to the Office of Naval Research by Cornell University scientists, whose investigations have been partly financed by the Navy.

A recent case is reported of a workman who fell 150 feet from a smokestack and landed on his side in a pile of loose rubble where his body made a depression eight inches deep. The man was fully conscious and rational when picked up. He had sustained a fractured ankle and a fractured jaw. He had a black eye and numerous scratches. Otherwise he was all right.

Such a fall, according to the Cornell report, would result in a minimum impact velocity of more than 90 feet a second.

"Calculations on the duration of the impact and the rate of onset of deceleration indicate this deceleration lasted approximately .014 of a second and the rate of onset was in excess of 22,000 times gravity per second," says the Cornell report.

"It is important to note that this enormous deceleration did not result in fracture of the skull, serious injury to the brain or amnesia. The survivor said that when he found himself falling he said to himself 'This is it,' and closed his eyes and relaxed."

The ascertained facts, says the report, are difficult to believe but are fully supported by investigations of 14 other similar falls.

"These show beyond any reasonable doubt," says the report, "that such decelerations can be survived with little or no injury when the force is applied during a brief period and is well dis-

Why the Filibuster?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Conflict Over Orderly Procedure

Many citizens who take a casual interest in public affairs have probably been wondering what the filibuster in the Senate was all about. They know it is a delaying tactic but they may not be clear as to just who was responsible for the delay that wasted more than a month's time.

The impression generally conveyed is that in recent weeks the southerners have been using their privilege under Senate rules to delay action on the voting rights bills by indulging in endless debate. But what is not usually reported is that the current filibuster in the Senate is an "effect"—not a "cause"—of a controversy over something else far more fundamental than the civil rights bills themselves.

It's really a conflict over orderly procedure and the main point is that many senators feel that an entire law should never be written by the 100 men on the floor of the Senate but that it should be considered first by the proper committee, where hearings can be held and the public given an opportunity to present its viewpoint.

This is a simple method of procedure that makes sense. Yet, because of the current philosophy that "the end justifies the means," such orderly consideration has not been given to the civil rights bill in the Senate.

SEN. WILLIS ROBERTSON (D-Va.), one of the ablest men in the upper house and the chairman of its Banking and Currency Committee, certainly is an experienced legislator. Here is his revealing complaint as voiced the other day to the Senate:

"The debate on several voting rights amendments fully illustrates the position many of us have taken upon the matter for the past month, namely, that the Senate should never undertake to write on the floor of the Senate a complicated and technical bill without the benefit of public hearings and without the benefit of a committee report. It has been difficult for senators to know what was in a given amendment when it was called up for discussion."

"For instance, last week the Clark amendment, to amend Sec. 3 of the Dirksen Bill, was called up."

That amendment was debated for a day and then it was withdrawn. The Douglas amendment was called up before any of us could even find out the difference between the Clark amendment and the Douglas amendment."

After a day or more of debate, the Douglas amendment was laid on the table.

"Last Friday, the distinguished senior senator from New York Mr. Javits, said he would call up his amendment. It turned out that the Clark amendment, which was designated '3-18-60-B,' and the Javits amendment, which is designated '3-18-60-B,' were the same. But it took a good deal of study to find that out."

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

When my neighbor said he would trust me for money I owed him because he wouldn't want to live in a world where he couldn't trust others, he said what millions have been trying to say about nuclear war. If it happened, most of us wouldn't want to live in that kind of a world anyway.

I confuse the writings of James Thurber and E. B. White, which is understandable because there is a resemblance in style as well as their New Yorker Magazine background. But I wince at the thought some of my friends may have gone looking for book titles that I attributed to the wrong man.

The royal family of Britain has a spooky look-alike situation. The children of the Queen all look like the Queen when she was a child. Moreover, the Queen and her sister, Princess Margaret, look like each other.

One complaint that leaves me unmoved this tardy springtime is inaccessibility of the dandelion greens that some people treasure as a vernal tidbit. Next to spinach, I dislike dandelion greens most.

There can be no doubt the Civilian Defense people mean well, but if they were trying to guarantee a re-run of the boy who cried "Wolf" so often no one believed him when the wolf finally appeared they couldn't do better than test their warning sirens periodically.

Franklin P. Adams, once famous as FPA of the newspaper columnists, is dead at the age of 78. If the initials FPA are only vaguely familiar, the explanation could be one of two things (1) The Adams column was last written in 1941; (2) That was 19 years ago, and in that time you have forgotten a lot more important things than the tagline of an once well-known newspaper column.

If there is a bonus for nutty predictions I'll predict that railroad piggy-backing for passenger cars will catch on some day, the same as piggy-backing for highway cargo carriers has turned out to be the biggest transportation idea of the last decade.

Meet Tonight For 'AA' Crown

Frazesburg Faces Salem Local In 'A'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — You just can't find two tougher and tighter tests for Ohio's high school basketball championships than today's two title tussles.

In Class A at 2 p.m. it's unbeaten, third-ranked Salem Local of Urbana against unheralded, underrated Frazesburg. At 8 p.m. it's top-ranked Dayton Roosevelt against second-ranked, defending champion Cleveland East Tech, for the Class AA crown.

Salem Local knocked out second-rated New Boston by 67-59 in Friday's semi-finals, handing the Tigers their first loss in 25 starts and runnings its own record to 26-0.

Frazesburg, the "Cinderella" team which knocked off top-ranked Northwestern of Wayne County in the regionals, upped its record to 27-1 by ousting New Bremen 64-51. A crowd of 13,857 filled St. John Arena for the "A" games in the 38th tourney.

East Tech, seeking to become the second team ever to win three titles in a row, out-shot, out-spied and out-rebounded Canton Timken for a 71-60 conquest which ended the Trojan winning streak at 24, and ran the Scarab mark to 23-1.

Roosevelt had a tougher time, being forced to come from behind a Toledo Scott team which had led most of the way, to eke out a 62-58 win. Scott vanished with a 22-3 record, while Roosevelt moved into the finals with 26-0. The double-A session drew 13,938 fans—just 101 more than the smaller schools.

Of the six All-Ohio stars in the tournament, three bowed out. But they went down like true champions as each led his team in scoring. Top scorer of the semi-finals was Leroy Frazier, the thin man of New Boston. The 140-pound 6-2 standout shined 30 points into the hoop, two ahead of Salem Local's Al Thrasher who was named the No. 1 player in the 561 school division.

John Namciu, Timken's All-Ohio, scored 23 to finish eighth ahead of Eugene Lane of East Tech, also an All-Ohio choice. And Toledo Scott's bespectacled Ray Wolford counted 21 against Dayton Roosevelt, while Ray Brown of the Teddies, top man among the 432 Class AA schools, cashed 15.

Wolford came within one of the free-throw record set in 1957 by Middletown's Jerry Lucas as he connected on 13 of 18 charity tosses.

East showed no mercy to Timken. The scamping Scarabs soared to a 23-4 lead in the first quarter and Timken never cut the edge to less than 11 points despite the heroics of Namciu who played with his injured left knee in a brace.

Scott led Roosevelt at each quarter, by margins of six, two and three points, but couldn't hang on. Each team held the lead 10 times and the score was tied on nine occasions. Marring the game somewhat was some snog officiating which resulted in 42 fouls being called, 21 on each team.

Girls Tumbling Exhibition Scheduled Monday

SALEM TUMBLERS — Three girls in the advanced tumbling class at the Memorial Building give a sneak preview of their exhibition which will be given free to the public starting at 7:30 Monday night. The girls are (l. to r.) Gyll Floding, Sue Mathews and Karen Smith. Four advanced tumblers and 17 in the beginners class will take part in the exhibition at the Memorial Building.

A girls' tumbling exhibition will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Memorial Building. No admission will be charged for the show which will be open to the public.

The performers will be girls between the ages of 6 and 17 who are members of Mrs. Loretta Dawson's beginning and advanced tumbling classes held three nights a week at the Memorial Building. Four of the girls have been in the tumbling classes for two years, while the others started working out at the Memorial Building just two months ago. Members of the advanced group are Karen Smith, Sue Mathews, Gyll Floding and Martha Talbot.

In the beginners group are Marta Tiejn, Kathy Sell, Gayle Seroka, Linda Cosgrove, Mary Ann Cosgrove, Connie Borrelli, Roberta Radler, Maryann Menamy, Pam Field, Nancy Jensen, Susan Cope, Susan Snyder, Dana Goard, Karen Catlin, Linda Huffer, Barbara Ehrhart and Susan Janovec.

Refreshments will be served after the exhibition.

Red Sox Prospects Clouded By Several Major Problems

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Bill Jurgens starts his first full season managing a Boston Red Sox club on which very little is set.

"We won't know until the week before the season begins what kind of a club we'll have," declares the former Chicago Cub and New York Giants' infielder.

In the catching department trouble looms if the Red Sox have to return Russ Nixon to Cleveland and Sammy White remains retired. When Boston traded White to the Tribe for Nixon, Sammy said he was quitting. So Cleveland has asked Nixon back.

How much will Ted Williams be able to play?

He's appeared in more spring games than in recent years and says he feels "pretty good." He hit only .254 last year as a back ailment plagued him.

There's no doubt about Boston's third base job. Frank Malzone, second only to Jackie Jensen in runs-batted-in for the club with 92 last season, anchors the infield there.

Jensen, although a recent visitor at the Red Sox camp, hasn't changed his decision of the past winter to retire.

With him gone, right-handed hitting power looms as a major need. First baseman Ron Jackson, who had several trials with the Chicago White Sox and hit .286 with 30 homers at Indianapolis last year, could supply power. But his spring performance hasn't been impressive.

If Jackson doesn't make the varsity, Pete Runnels and Vic Wertz shared the first base job. But Jurgens would prefer to use Pete at second.

Don Buddin again will be at shortstop.

Outfielders include Williams, veteran Bobby Thomson who was acquired by trade from the Cubs. Gene Stephens, Marty Keough, Jim Busby and rookies Lou Clinton and Jerry Mallett.

Tom Brewer, Jerry Casale, Ike Delock and Frank Sullivan head the returning delegation in the pitching department. All are right-handers. Casale posted a 13-8 record last year. Brewer 10-12, Delock 11-6 and Sullivan 9-11.

Bill Monbouquette posted a 7-7 record in his first full season of major league ball.

Ex-Yankee Tom Sturdivant, obtained in a trade with Kansas City, could also win a starting assignment.

Only left-handers on the roster are Tom Borland, who had a 14-8 mark with Minneapolis last season, Ted Bowsfield and Ted Wills who also did most of their 1959 work in the Minnesota city.

Hawks, Lakers to Collide for NBA Division Championship

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks collide with the underdog Minneapolis Lakers today in the deciding game of the bitterly contested Western Division play-offs of the National Basketball Assn., amid assurances that Hawk Coach Ed Macauley will be replaced regardless of the outcome.

Hawk owner Ben Kerner strongly denied he plans any coaching change but The Associated Press learned Friday night from an authoritative source that Macauley will be replaced by Paul Seymour sometime after the Hawks complete playoff action.

The source said Macauley will announce his resignation as coach but will be retained as a vice president and general manager in the last year of a three-year contract.

Seymour, 31, recently resigned after four successful years as coach of the Syracuse Nationals, three as player-coach.

The finale of the bruising series will be played at Washington University fieldhouse and will be nationally televised (2 p.m. EST).

Macauley, denying that Kerner has asked him to step down, asserted he was too busy planning for the game to worry about the report he will be replaced.

The Hawks Big Three—erratic in the first three games—clicked for 88 points in a 117-96 victory Thursday which squared the best-of-seven series at 3-3. Bob Pettit hit 30, Cliff Hagan and Clyde Lovellette 29 each.

Kerner was emphatic in denying that Macauley will be moved upstairs but The Associated Press learned that Seymour was signed Wednesday in Chicago after the Hawks had dropped the fifth game in overtime Tuesday night.

The winner today will open the NBA title series Sunday in Boston.

Pirates Trip Senators 9-8

White Sox Hand A's 6-5 Defeat

By The Associated Press
It's time to starting taking those exhibition baseball standings seriously. The Chicago White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates are on top because they both have the one-run, extra-inning winning habit.

That's why the White Sox won the American League pennant last year and that's why the Pirates could have won the National if they hadn't picked up the bad habit of losing on the road.

Both scored one-run victories Friday. The Pirates ran their NL leading exhibition record to 9-3 with a 9-8 triumph over Washington at Orlando. It was the Pirates' ninth straight victory.

The White Sox, atop the AL with a 9-4 mark, beat Kansas City 6-5 in 13 innings at Sarasota. The Sox have won three of four one-run games. The Pirates also have lost only one of four one-run games.

Sure, it's all in spring training, but you just can't kiss off those figures when you consider the Pirates led the majors last season with 36 one-run victories. And that the White Sox had the best one-run percentage (.700 no 35 and 15). Pittsburgh dropped 19 by one run.

The Chicago Cubs also turned in a one-run victory 4-3, over the Boston Red Sox at Scottsdale, but the other Arizona game was a one-sided show. The San Francisco Giants laced the Cleveland Indians 14-1 at Phoenix.

In other Florida action, the New York Yankees blanked the Milwaukee Braves 4-0 at Bradenton, the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Cincinnati Reds 8-3 at St. Petersburg, the Philadelphia Phillies took the Detroit Tigers at Lakeland 8-2 in 13 innings and at Miami in a night game Baltimore beat Los Angeles 3-1.

Reds' Ace Hurlers Blasted by Cards

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds yeards to see Cal McLish and Bill Henry a little more successful on the mound.

The Reds traded away a bundle of talent for these two, who are supposed to put starch in the Rhinelanders' pitching this season—McLish as a starter, Henry as a fireman.

They had those roles Friday and the St. Louis Cardinals treated them roughly, beating the Reds 8-3.

Of course, McLish told General Manager Gabe Paul last winter: "Pay no attention to me in the spring. I don't pitch too well."

McLish pitched six innings Friday, Henry finished the last two and each gave up five hits and four runs.

Manager Freddie Hutchinson says he isn't worried about McLish, now age 34.

"I'm sure he'll be quite a pitcher for us for several more years," Hutch said.

"Look at (Warren) Spahn and (Earl) Wynn and a few others. They're a lot older and still going strong. McLish, like Spahn, is a pitcher, not a thrower."

As for Henry, the Reds' No. 1 catcher, Ed Bailey, said, "I'm sure glad Gabe Paul finally got that guy on our side."

"He doesn't even give you a good pitch to hit in batting practice."

ROLLS 620 GAME

Ron Shaffer of the Chick Shaffer team in the Commercial Bowling League this week rolled a three game high of 620, which included a 246 single game.

Paret Draws With Thompson

Cuban May Get Crack at Jordan

NEW YORK (AP) — Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paret and Argentina's Federico Thompson fought to a draw in 12 thrilling rounds Friday night but the fiery Cuban apparently took the prize that counted—a title fight with welterweight champion Don Jordan at Las Vegas, Nev., May 27.

This, naturally, made the 23-year-old Paret happy, and Thompson furious.

The 32-year-old Argentine champion says he will protest to the New York Athletic Commission on Monday if he is passed up on the first crack at the title shot.

It may not do him much good since Las Vegas is in National Boxing Assn. territory and NBA officials approved the Paret-Jordan fight, the winner to meet Thompson within 90 days.

"I think Paret and Jordan should fight for the title and I'm recommending that they do," said ringsider Tony Petronella, NBA foreign coordinator and chairman of its ratings committee.

Petronella contacted NBA President Tony Macaroni in Providence, R.I. and Macaroni approved the recommendation.

"I have more of a right to the title fight than Paret," said Thompson today. "I knocked out Jordan (in the fourth round of a nontitle fight at Buenos Aires last Dec. 12) and Paret hasn't fought him. Paret didn't beat me. It was a draw but I think I won. Either I should get the title fight or a return fight with Paret. I'll knock him out the next time."

After the 12 rounds of the Paret-Thompson fight the three officials came up with as many verdicts. Referee Al Berl had Paret in front, 6-5-1. Judge Art Aida had them even in rounds, 6-6, but Thompson the winner on points, 8-7. Judge Leo Birnbaum had them exactly even, giving each 6 rounds and 6 points. The AP card had Paret in front, 7-5. A ringside poll gave Paret an 8-6-2 edge. It was that close.

Cleveland Trampled By San Francisco 14-1

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians took another outrageously one-sided trouncing Friday in the Cactus League, losing to San Francisco 14-1.

Willie Kirkland hit two home runs, and Joe Maltbie and Willie Mays got one each as the Giants pounded Gary Bell for nine hits and Ernie Johnson and Bobby Locke for four each.

Jack Sanford, Stu Miller and Billy Loes held the Tribe to a double by Vic Power, a single by Walt Bond, and a pair of singles each by George Strickland and Bubba Phillips. Cleveland's run scored on a wild pitch by Sanford in the sixth inning.

The Indians now owe five of their eight losses to the Giants whom they have beaten only once.

ABC Bowling Tourney Enters Fourth Week

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The 79-day American Bowling Congress tourney enters its fourth week today at the Sports Arena, and so far the booster teams are the only division where scores are running higher than at this stage of the ABC last year in St. Louis.

Brannan's boosters No. 1 of McKees Rocks, Pa., anchored by Joseph Giedl's 600, rolled 2,785 Friday night for second spot among the top 10 booster teams—those with regular season averages of 850 or less. Checker Cabs of Detroit heads this division with 2,795.

Three booster teams are tied for eighth with 2,719, so that 11 quintets are at that total or above. Last year at this stage of the ABC, 2,693 was good enough for top listing on the ABC's big board of 10 leaders.

Fight Results

Christ K. Nyktas

Christ K. Nyktas, 68, of 733 E. 3rd St., died at 12:25 a.m. today in the Central Clinic, where he had been a patient for three weeks.

Born Nov. 7, 1892 in Kydonia, Asia Minor, Greece, he was a son of Antonios and Helen Bouboulina Nyktas.

He had lived in Salem 33 years and was owner and operator of the Ohio Bar and Grill.

He was a member of St. John's Greek Orthodox Church and the G.A.P.A., both of Youngstown; and the Salem Democratic Club of which he was a precinct committeeman.

He married Stavroula Christofaris May 8, 1938.

Besides his wife, he is survived by four daughters, Elaine, Maria, Antonia and Katherine; and a son, George, all at home; and a sister, Mrs. Myrsena Hassapis of Columbus. A brother, William, died in 1951.

Funeral service will be Tuesday at 2 p.m. at St. John's Greek Orthodox Church, Woodland Ave., Youngstown, with Father Constantine Mager officiating.

Burial will be in Belmont Cemetery, Youngstown.

Trisagion services will be held Monday at 7 p.m. at the residence, where friends may call both Sunday and Monday evenings.

The family requests that material tributes take the form of contributions to St. John's Church Building Fund.

William C. Vietmeier

WEST POINT — William C. Vietmeier of West Point, a World War I veteran and retired steel worker, died today at 3:40 a.m. at his home after an illness of five months. He was 65.

He was born at Fair Haven, Pa., July 17, 1894, a son of Joseph and Clara Goldback Vietmeier, and he lived the last 33 years in this vicinity. He was retired from the Mullin's plant in Salem.

He was a member of St. Agath's Catholic Church in West Point and a church council member. He belonged to the DAV at West Point.

Mr. Vietmeier leaves his wife, Mary of the home; five daughters, Sister Mary Gerald, St. Dominic's Church of Youngstown, Miss Loretta Vietmeier of the home, Mrs. Frank Timko and Mrs. Elmer Fanslau, both of Cleveland;

Four sons, James Vietmeier and Leo Vietmeier, both of the home, Lawrence Vietmeier of Lisbon, William J. Vietmeier of Lapuente, Calif.; and 18 grandchildren. A son, Joseph, died in 1947.

Services will be conducted Monday at 10 a.m. at St. George's Catholic Church in Lisbon by the Rev. Fr. Richard Buchman of St. Philip's Church at Dungan. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Henry Funeral Home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Rosary will be said Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Tests

February to propose to Britain and the Soviet Union that only the larger underground explosions and those in the water and air, which are more easily detectable, be prohibited by formal treaty.

3. International inspectors stationed in each country under the proposed treaty would be empowered to investigate suspicion of even small underground explosions in defiance of the moratorium—even though these were not covered in the treaty.

4. If at the end of one year, or possibly two, there was no real progress in the development of a fully effective inspection system for small underground explosions, then each of the powers should have the right to review its position under the moratorium and determine whether the arrangement should be continued.

The compromise agreement worked out within the administration apparently means that the President decided that the United States could risk delaying a resumption of tests for at least a year beyond next fall.

Many top officials are fearful that the Soviet Union with its nationwide system of secrecy, would have opportunities to possibly get ahead of the United States in nuclear weapons development.

Program Is Held At Bayard Grange

LISBON — Lisbon Grange presented the Pomona Grange project to the Bayard Grange Friday evening at the Bayard Grange hall. There were approximately 100 present.

The theme, "Things of the Past," was used. R. Max Gard gave the introduction and talked on stones.

Two accordion solos were presented by Roger Crowell; a poem, "Mortifying the Mistake," by Arlene Crosser; a reading, "Treasurer's Report of the Past," by the Rev. William Spangler who also played a piano solo;

Song by quartet composed of Misses Donna Lottman, Sandra Shaw, Karen Shaw and Mrs. Charles Harris, accompanied by Mrs. Della Crosser; skit, "The Lower and the High," by Charles Harris and Fred Bates.

James Crowell of Lisbon is master of the Lisbon Grange.

South

fact apparently noted by leaders in several states.

The Florida Board of Control Friday put white Florida State University and Negro Florida A. & M. University at Tallahassee on notice to maintain law and order.

The board did not spell out what steps the universities should take. Students from both have participated in recent sit-downs and some Florida legislators have demanded they be expelled.

Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee charged at Nashville that Friday's sit-in demonstrations by Negro students were "instigated and planned by, and staged for the convenience of the Columbia Broadcasting System."

Four Negro college students—three men and a woman—were arrested for failing to move on when a drug store lunch counter closed. The first demonstration in Nashville since early this month was staged after a meeting at a Negro church filmed by CBS news cameramen.

Group Furthers Plans For Careers Day

LISBON — Plans for serving the tea at the annual Careers in Home Economics Day, set Sunday, April 3, in Salem High School, were completed when 18 township representatives of the Columbiana County Alumnae Extension Council met Friday afternoon in the agriculture extension office.

Mrs. Ralph Phillips and Mrs. Warren Courtney of Salem, Mrs. Jay Eells of Elkton and Miss Julia Shank were appointed to the committee for the affair.

Mrs. Earl Seavers Sr. of New Garden and Mrs. Donald Getz of Salem were named to the program committee, and Mrs. Ross Boigegrain of North Georgetown and Mrs. Roy Menges of Alliance were named to the table committee for the annual alumnae council picnic Thursday, July 16, at Silver Park, south of Mount Union.

Mrs. Eells, president, presided at Friday's meeting.

Dr. Grubbe, X-Ray Pioneer, Succumbs

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Emil H. Grubbe, pioneer in the field of X-ray and radiation treatment, died today a victim of his own scientific experiments.

The 85-year-old physician succumbed at Swedish Covenant Hospital.

Burned by X-rays in the fall of 1895, Dr. Grubbe was the earliest known victim of man-made radiation. He later said that his radiation burns, which crippled and disfigured him, provided the idea of using radiation for therapeutic purposes.

In 1896, Dr. Grubbe, as a 20-year-old physicist, used a beam of X-rays to treat a woman cancer patient. Late in life, he generally was credited as the father of X-ray treatment.

Spellers

McKinley, Reilly, Fourth Street, Buckeye and Prospect Schools and the champions from the seventh and eighth grades at the Junior High.

THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

are in the mist of selecting their best spellers. Written tests were given this week and oral competition is planned next week.

Miss Betty Ward, special instructor at the Junior High who supervises the spelling bee arrangements each year, said the seventh grade spellers already have been chosen.

The 11 who will compete in the April 7 event include Jack Dougherty and Doug Kilman, who tied for first place in a recent spelling-down; Natalia Protoff, Bobby Moore, Cathie Eicher, Merry Kreich, David Freseman, Michele Atkinson, David Hanna, Barbara DeCrow and Betty Jo Allen.

Thirty-three seventh grade boys and girls competed in the event. Miss Gerry Floding was the pronouncer and Mrs. Jane Eckstein and Mrs. Tommie Largent were judges.

FIVE WINNERS in the city bee April 7 will advance to the county finals at Lisbon on the 25th competing with the top spellers from all other school districts. Under a formula of one speller for each 500 students eligible in grades one through eight, 32 youngsters will compete at Lisbon.

The last six to remain standing in the county bee will then be eligible to compete in the grand finals at Canton Timken High School auditorium on May 6. Only one speller at Canton goes to the National Bee, although prizes will be awarded to both the winner and runner-up. A banquet precedes the Canton finals.

The county bee is co-sponsored by The Salem News and the East Liverpool Review, while the Canton finals are sponsored by The Canton Repository. All are Brush-Moore Newspapers.

All of the preliminary bees in the various school districts are run by school officials who cooperate in the program to make pupils better spellers.

Two Are Fined For Disorderly Conduct

Roger Lee Clay, 20, and Arden L. Sauerwein, 21, both of RD 5, Salem, were given three-day suspended jail sentences and each fined $10 and costs in Mayor Dean Crammer's court this morning after they pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct charges.

Police said the pair jumped onto a moving flatbed truck on E. State St. at 12:10 a.m. today and then jumped off and started running when they spotted a police cruiser.

Two out-of-town truck drivers were fined in mayor's court Friday for overload. Fined were Delbert E. Royer, 36, of Hartsville, $50, and Howard Miller, 36, of Barrington N.J., $55.

Francis Grafton 21, of 551 E. 4th St. was fined $25 for reckless operation of his car at 6 p.m. Friday on W. state St. Police said Grafton passed a long line of cars on the wrong side.

Tests

February to propose to Britain and the Soviet Union that only the larger underground explosions and those in the water and air, which are more easily detectable, be prohibited by formal treaty.

3. International inspectors stationed in each country under the proposed treaty would be empowered to investigate suspicion of even small underground explosions in defiance of the moratorium—even though these were not covered in the treaty.

4. If at the end of one year, or possibly two, there was no real progress in the development of a fully effective inspection system for small underground explosions, then each of the powers should have the right to review its position under the moratorium and determine whether the arrangement should be continued.

The compromise agreement worked out within the administration apparently means that the President decided that the United States could risk delaying a resumption of tests for at least a year beyond next fall.

Many top officials are fearful that the Soviet Union with its nationwide system of secrecy, would have opportunities to possibly get ahead of the United States in nuclear weapons development.

Program Is Held At Bayard Grange

LISBON — Lisbon Grange presented the Pomona Grange project to the Bayard Grange Friday evening at the Bayard Grange hall. There were approximately 100 present.

The theme, "Things of the Past," was used. R. Max Gard gave the introduction and talked on stones.

Two accordion solos were presented by Roger Crowell; a poem, "Mortifying the Mistake," by Arlene Crosser; a reading, "Treasurer's Report of the Past," by the Rev. William Spangler who also played a piano solo;

Song by quartet composed of Misses Donna Lottman, Sandra Shaw, Karen Shaw and Mrs. Charles Harris, accompanied by Mrs. Della Crosser; skit, "The Lower and the High," by Charles Harris and Fred Bates.

James Crowell of Lisbon is master of the Lisbon Grange.

South

fact apparently noted by leaders in several states.

The Florida Board of Control Friday put white Florida State University and Negro Florida A. & M. University at Tallahassee on notice to maintain law and order.

The board did not spell out what steps the universities should take. Students from both have participated in recent sit-downs and some Florida legislators have demanded they be expelled.

Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee charged at Nashville that Friday's sit-in demonstrations by Negro students were "instigated and planned by, and staged for the convenience of the Columbia Broadcasting System."

Four Negro college students—three men and a woman—were arrested for failing to move on when a drug store lunch counter closed. The first demonstration in Nashville since early this month was staged after a meeting at a Negro church filmed by CBS news cameramen.
